Program Notes

Lux Aurumque: Light of Gold

Lux Aurumque began its life as an a cappella choral work that I wrote in the fall of 2000. When the Texas Music Educators Association and a consortium of bands commissioned me to adapt it for symphonic winds, I rewrote the climax and included the grand 'Bliss' theme from my opera "Paradise Lost."

Lux Aurumque received its premiere at the 2005 conference of the Texas Music Educator's Association and is dedicated with deep admiration for my dear friend Gary Green.

Lux,
calida gravisque
pura velut aurum
et canunt angeli
molliter modo natum.

Translated by Charles Anthony Silvestri

Light,
warm and heavy
as pure gold,
and the angels sing softly
to the newborn babe.

Edward Esch

Suite No. 2 in Eb, Mvt. 4, "Fantasia on the Dargason"

Holst's second study (to piano and organ) was for trombone, and his experience performing both as a student on the pier at Blackpool or Brighton during holidays and after graduation with groups such as the Scottish Orchestra gave him an appreciation for the players' point of view. He also saw that bandsmen needed more literature to perform, and so he combined his interests in folk tunes and band music to create his first and second suites for military band.

The final movement, Fantasia on the Dargason, weaves together two more folk tunes. The Dargason, a Renaissance dance melody, is best known to us as "The Irish Washerwoman," and is introduced here on saxophone, passed quickly to other instruments in succession. Holst's inventive orchestration keeps driving the dance forward, but he adds something extra: while clarinets sound the main theme, a second theme appears simultaneously in the lower brass. This tune, perhaps hard to recognize under the brisk dance, is the familiar "Greensleeves." The dance continues relentlessly, and though Greensleeves makes a final broad appearance in the full brass, the washerwoman has the last word in an amusing duet between piccolo and tuba to close the piece.

Winter Announcements

Trip Deposits Due: December deposits were due Dec. 1, and will be charged a late fee beginning December 6.

Panda Express Fundraiser: Dec. 10—Check communications for flyer next week

Plano Holiday Parade: Dec. 14—See itinerary on Google Classroom

Volunteer Opportunities:

Saturday, Dec. 14 students will return marching uniforms. We will need several volunteers to wash 10-15 items each before they are stored for next season. Please contact Kris Stevnsen at alankris@verizon.net.

Saturday, January 25th will be Cafe Virtuoso, an evening of music from Hag-gard, Wilson, Vines and PSHS bands along with a bake sale and raffles. Several people have signed up to help with the various committees for the event, but we need one 10th grade parent and one 9th grade parent to serve as co-chairs for the event and oversee the committees. You will have plenty of help, but we just need a couple of people to make sure all of the details are pulled together for a great evening of music and fundraising for our feeder school programs.

Friday, May 8th will be the Vines Band End of Year Banquet at Plano Senior High School. It seems far away, but we want to go ahead and have the committees in place so planning can begin early. The location is already set, so one less thing to worry about! We need someone (or two—you can work in pairs!) to chair this event and oversee the various committees.

If you would like to help out the band by serving as a chairperson for Cafe Virtuoso or the Banquet, please contact VP Volunteers, Amy Hendrix at drew.amy@hendrixhouse.net or 214-394-2633.
